AEM appoints Mr. Pascal Pierra to lead key business division and drive the growth in AMPS business

Singapore, 24 June 2019 – AEM Holdings Ltd (“AEM” or “the Group”), a global provider of equipment systems solutions and manufacturing services, announced that it has appointed Mr. Pascal Pierra as Senior Vice President and General Manager of System Level Test and Inspection (“SLTI”), with effect from today.

Mr. Pierra has over 20 years’ experience in the Semiconductor and Additive Manufacturing industries in Europe, USA and Asia. With his new role at AEM, Mr. Pierra will be responsible for the overall business in SLTI, and part of his responsibility will be driving the growth in AEM’s Asynchronous Modular Parallel Smart solution platform (“AMPS”) business.

In early 2018, AEM introduced AMPS, its proprietary test handling solutions that are uniquely customised for each customer’s specific needs, in response to the industry-wide, structural need for lower cost and higher efficiency in chip testing. Therefore, AMPS will benefit a wide range of customers, including chip makers and third-party testing companies.

Commenting on the appointment of Mr. Pascal Pierra, AEM’s Executive Chairman Loke Wai San said, “It’s my great pleasure to welcome Pascal to join AEM and lead our SLTI division. SLTI is a key function where we gradually build up and grow organically our AMPS business. We look forward to Pascal’s in-depth knowledge and extensive experience contributing to SLTI and bringing enhanced system testing solutions to more customers.”
